dental care

is right under your nose.

Allen Hoef, DDS
Family Dentistry

Maybe you feel a dental visit is about getting your teeth cleaned, having a tooth pulled, or getting a filling.

But a dental visit is also about your overall health.

If you have diabetes, a mouth infection can affect your blood-sugar levels. Gum disease can also increase the risk of heart disease, stroke, and kidney disease.

Dr. Hoef knows how to manage these risks, with over 46 years of dental experience. A graduate of the Ohio State University School of Dentistry, Dr. Hoef also is the Dental Director for Northwest.

So, be sure your mouth – and your whole body – is healthy. Call Dr. Hoef today.
